

MNTC execs move closer to NLEX. Manila North Tollways Corp. (MNTC) executives will soon realize their desire to work close to the North Luzon Expressway (NLEX) with the construction of their new headquarters beside the existing Operations and Management Center at Km. 12 of the tollway in Caloocan City. At present, the MNTC officials led by Jose "Ping" de Jesus, president and CEO, hold office at the second floor of the Benpres Building in Ortigas Center, Pasig City. Photo taken during the recent groundbreaking rites show Romulo S. Quimbo, vice president for legal and regulatory affairs; Raul Ignacio, vice president for operations management and assurance services; Marlene Ochoa, vice president for corporate communications; Anthony Mabasa, president, Tollways Management Corp.; de Jesus; Luigi Bautista, senior vice president for operations management; Jun Cepeda, vice president, human resources and administration; Rene Banares, project head; and Renato Martinez, vice president, contracts management.
